NAVAL STATION, GUANTANAMO BAY, CUBA

As a special liberty by station tug to Santiago had been arranged for November 10, the celebration of the birthday of the Marine Corps was held by the Marines at Fisherman's Point on the 12th.

The morning was taken up with field and water sports, and a gallery match using the new .22 caliber rifles recently purchased by the Post Exchange, and with which the 24th Company and the Barracks Detachment will enter the N. R. A. Gallery Competitions this month.

In the afternoon a baseball game was played against the Cuban team from Caimanera, the Marines winning with a score of 9-8.

In the evening a very clever minstrel show was put on by members of the command, followed by five four-round boxing bouts. Every one in the Station was invited and attended.

The Barracks Detachment, repeating its performance of June 10, when Guantanamo Day was celebrated, beat the 24th Company 33 points to 19.

The list of winners in each event follows:

THE MARINES OF THE NAVY YARD, NORFOLK

In commemoration of the 148th birthday of the Marine Corps, November 10, a sham battle was staged on the parade ground at the Marine Barracks, Navy Yard, Norfolk, Va. Marine Gunner Thomas Quigley had charge of a machine gun nest, the defensive unit, while Captain W. T. H. Galliford, with members of the Marine Detachment, U. S. S. West Virginia, formed the attacking force. A 75mm. gun from Grimes Battery, Portsmouth, with Supply Sergeant William C. Ober in charge, aided greatly in making the battle more realistic. A frontal attack was made, followed closely by a flank attack from the right. The battle lasted about twenty minutes and was witnessed by a great many persons from Portsmouth and Norfolk. It was said, by those who know, to have been most realistic.

On Monday, November 12, the Marine football team from the Navy Yard, Norfolk, met the Sewanee team at the Portsmouth Ball Park. Both teams are in the running for the Tidewater District Championship and as it promised to be a hotly contested battle a large crowd was out. Although the game ended without either team scoring, the Marines had a little edge over Sewanee, both in first downs and in territory gained. The Marines big fullback Alexander, failed in three attempts at placement kicks from the 30, 35, and 45-yard lines, but at no time was Sewanee within scoring distance. The game was a good example of clean football and held plenty of thrills for the spectators.

Sunday, November 18, the Norfolk Marine football team journeyed to Camp Eustis where they took the Army into camp with the large end of a 20-0 score. About a hundred marines and bluejackets from the Navy Yard and Naval Base went along on a tug furnished for the occasion and helped their team to victory. These few men showed the several thousand Army men there how to cheer. The first half was close with neither team scoring and with but little danger to either. In the third quarter the Army started off with a spurt and by several well executed plays finally landed the ball on the Marines one-yard line. Then the fighting spirit of the Marines showed itself and the Army was held for four downs. The Marines then kicked to safety and, recovering the ball on a fumble, placed it on the Army two-yard line. The Army team did some wonderful holding, taking the ball from the Marines on downs. Army then made a bad punt and the ball went outside on the Army twenty-yard line, and ended the third quarter. In the fourth quarter the Marines broke loose with a forward pass from Stefanik to Fugitt, for the first touchdown. The try for the extra point failed. The Marines kicked off, then held the Army, forcing them to kick. The ball was caught by Duke, who made an eighty-five-yard run for another touchdown. Alexander kicked for the extra point successfully. The third touchdown was made by Alexander on straight football, and the try for extra point was again successful. After the game, the officers were served refreshments at the Officers' Club, and the men sampled Army chow, supper being served before the return trip.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAITI

On the departure of the former Brigade Commander, Colonel Theodore P. Kane for the United States, all available troops assembled to do him honor. A Battalion of four companies under the command of Major Ancrum was the guard of honor.

The Battalion formed in line of close columns with bayonets fixed. On the approach of Colonel Kane appropriate honors were rendered. In view of the fact that the Colonel was soon to be appointed a Brigadier General he was given the honors proper for that rank, although the promotion had not as yet become effective.

All officers of the Brigade not actually on duty were present. The air forces flew overhead in formation during the ceremonies.

NAVAL AMMUNITION DEPOT,

FORT MIFFLIN, PA.

The celebration of the 148th Anniversary of the Marine Corps took the form at this point of a dance held in the Barracks that evening. The affair was a huge success. Sergeant William C. Hoffman, as master of ceremonies, was to a large extent responsible for the success of the evening. He was ably assisted by Private Murello, our one and only decorator.

We are sorry to lose two of our old timers. Sergeant Kunes and Corporal Light are on their way to Santo Domingo. We received a welcome addition to our command when seven privates from the men arriving on the Henderson from the Tropics, reported in.

A number of dances and smokers are planned for the season. The men of this post are full of pep and our affairs sure go. Judging from our last dance we will certainly convince the inhabitants of our old Quaker City that we are on the map.

PORTSMOUTH, NEW HAMPSHIRE

The football team played a return game with the Portsmouth High Alumni last week and it was a sorry afternoon for Portsmouth. Of course we did not run up such a big score, but a win by three points is just as good as by more. The Marines scored in the first quarter on a kick by Austin, and the final score was the same, 3-0. It was a real football game, with both teams showing a high grade of stuff.

Our First Sergeant has just extended his time in the Corps for four more years and is about to leave us to visit his new home in Toledo.

This afternoon Private Friedland approached the writer and asked that we mention his name in the LEATHERNECK. We don't know a thing to say about him, but he is hereby mentioned and that's that.

Captain Russell, our Barracks Detachment Commander, Post Quartermaster, Post Exchange Officer, Post Treasurer, Morale Officer, and Athletic Officer (ain't that a mouthful?) is forming a basketball team. Fifteen men are out and from the looks of things ought to give the New Hampshireites and Maine-iacs a thrill this winter.

NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND

Armistice Day was a big success down this way. Excluding November 11, 1918, it was the most impressive celebration any of us had ever witnessed. The American Legion dedicated a fitting memorial to the soldier dead of Newport in the form of a marble and bronze base for the flag staff in front of the City Hall. Marching units composed of soldiers from Fort Adams, sailors from the Training Station and Marines from these Barracks marched the city and surrounded the City Hall en masse. Lieutenant J. B. Weaver was in command of the Marines.

Colors was sounded with the troops at present arms and as Old Glory rose to the top of the new staff, roses concealed in its folds fluttered over the heads of the mothers of the boys who fell in France. Every rose represented one who gave his life in the war.

There were also exercises at Rogers High School. Here six Marines under Corporal Ed Sauer acted as ushers.

Sergeant Frank W. King joined this post from furlough after shipping over. This is not his first time around these parts. King hasn't very much longer to be with the Leathernecks as he expects to retire shortly with thirty years to his credit.

Corporal Maingot with nine men reported in from Norfolk after a cruise in Haiti. Ten of our men were transferred to the tropics in exchange. Charley Thompson, the footballer who doesn't know when he is knock out, headed the detail with bright new Corporals' chevrons. Men weren't anxious to leave and had to be practically drafted. When they heard their names read many acted as though the "Top" had pronounced their death warrants.

Lieutenant Colonel Shartle, who commands the artillery post at Fort Adams, came along side the other afternoon to return an official visit. He called on the Inspector of Ordnance and on our Commanding Officer,

An Irishman recently went before a Judge to be naturalized.

"Have you read the Declaration of Independence?" the Court asked.

"I hov not," said Pat.

"Have you read the Constitution?"

"I hov not, yer Honor."

The Judge looked sternly at the applicant and asked: "Well, what have you read?"

Pat hesitated a moment before replying: "I hov red hairs on my neck."

A woman agitator, holding forth on the platform and presenting the greatness of her sex, cried out: "Take away woman, and what would follow?"

And from the audience came a clear, male voice: "We would."

Ben: "I'd go through anything for you."

R. S. Flapper: "Let's start on your banking account."

"Is Mike Clancy here?" asked the visitor at the quarry, just after the premature explosion.

"No, sir," replied Costigan; "he's gone."

"For good?"

"Well, sor, he wint in thot direction!"

Jackson: "What you all call it when a girl gits married t'ree times—bigotry?"

Rastus: "Lawdy, boy, you suttinly is ignoramus! Why, when a gal gits married two times, dat am bigotry; but when she gits married de third time dat am trigonometry."

"Cheer up, Ethel, your new beau may not be good-looking, but remember, 'Beauty is only skin deep.'"

"Then he must have been skinned at birth."

"Wifey, dear, I bought you a 100-piece dinner set today."

"Oh, goody! Now I'll only have to wash dishes once a week."

"Norah, remember, we are to have six guests for dinner this evening."

"Seven, all told, mum."

"I said six."

"Wan will be in th' kitchen, mum."

Of one thing we are certain: When a pretty girl gets on the street car, the safety razor, cigar, and men's clothing ads are a total loss.

Pon: "Yes we have no bananas."

John: "But we have just received a shipment of camels from the Zoo."

"Do you believe in fate?" he whispered, as she snuggled closer to him.

"Well," she answered, "not exactly, but I do know that what's going to happen will happen."

Mr. Gaylad: "You say that you are worried? That your wife hasn't written to you since she started on her vacation?"

Mr. Steppout: "Yes. I am worried. She may drop in at any time."

Just because a Marine goes to bed early and gets up early is no sign he is wealthy, healthy or wise.

Christmas Announcement

We know that all Marines have relatives and friends to whom they would like to send Christmas remembrances. We also know that the means available for procuring such remembrances are limited, and that it is difficult to decide what to send.

THE LEATHERNECK therefore suggests a solution to the difficulty. Why not send a subscription to THE LEATHERNECK as a Christmas present? It is a most fitting gift for a Marine to send, and the one who receives it will have a remembrance that will be renewed every week.

Anticipating that many of our readers would desire to send subscriptions as gifts we have prepared Christmas cards which we will mail to any address on receipt of the subscription. These cards are as shown below. We will have your name placed in the blank space.

Christmas Greetings

from

Mr.

U. S. Marine Corps

I wish you a Merry Christmas and I hope that we may remain in each other's thoughts throughout the coming year. That this may come to pass I am sending you as a Christmas remembrance a subscription to "THE LEATHERNECK" which tells of the doings of all Marines.

Major Powers. The good feeling between the three branches of the service represented here is remarkable. Somewhat to the disgust (or at least so they claim) of some of our command it is quite usual to see members of all three units out on a party together. Well, it's the proper spirit.

It was with deep feeling of regret that we read of the defeat of the Marines at the hands of Michigan. But it's only one notch missing in the Marines' gun and it will be there one of these days. Just at present we are all calling "Gang-way Army, you'll get yours."

Our station eleven, on which four Marines played important positions, torpedoed the 1st Army Corps by a 31 to 6 score. One of our Marines, Joe Epsom, made an 80-yard run for a touchdown, but was called back because of off-side play on the part of one of the team.

The attendance at the game was 8,000.

MARINE DETACHMENT U. S. S. "ROCHESTER"

The U. S. S. Rochester has served Uncle Sam for a great many years, but it is still classed as an active cruiser. The Rochester sailed for the Tropics in June, 1923, to relieve the U. S. S. Birmingham as flagship of the special service squadron. On relieving the Birmingham the two Marine Detachments were combined giving a detachment of 71 men with Captain James M. Bain as Marine Officer and Lieutenant Warriner as Junior Marine Officer.

During the hot month of July the detachment fired the Army course at Fort Clayton, Canal Zone, with the result of 24 experts, 17 sharpshooters and 19 marksmen. Two months later the detachment fired the Navy course at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and qualified 42 experts, 9 sharpshooters and 13 marksmen. While there we fired a competitive match with the U. S. S. Cleveland. The Rochester team, which won the match with a score of 2,067 to 1,980, was composed of Lieutenant Commander Weems, Gunner Rogers, Captain Bain, U. S. M. C. Sergeants Harrmann and Eisenberg, Corporals Barwick and Huff, and Private Craige.

We recently visited the ports of Santo Domingo City, La Guaira, Venezuela, and Curacao, Dutch West Indies. At Venezuela the government provided a trip through the high mountains to Caracas with a banquet (including beers and wines) served in lieu of lunch. They also produced one of their famous Bull Fights.

The Rochester is now in Balboa preparing for target practice with five-inch guns, six of which are manned by Marines.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MARINE BARRACKS,
NAVY YARD, BOSTON, MASS.

The Marines from these barracks played an important part in the greatest Armistice Day celebrations held in this city since the signing of the Armistice. During the morning a detachment consisting of four squads under command of First Lieut. F. D. Harbaugh marched from the Navy Yard to the State House and from there, together with the members of the Military Order of the World War, marched to the bandstand in the Boston Common where Senator Underwood, of Alabama, and Major General Clarence R. Edwards, U. S. Army (retired), delivered addresses.

In the afternoon a detachment of Marines under command of First Lieutenant Stahlberger participated in a military parade, which was headed by Major General Edwards, Rear Admiral de Steiguer, Colonel L. M.

Gulick, our Commanding Officer, and many other prominent high ranking military and naval officers. It is estimated that fifteen thousand service and ex-service men took part. Thousands of people turned out to witness this parade and, as usual, we received more than our share of the applause that greeted the marchers.

Twenty Marines from this post attended the Military Pageant and Ball given by the Canadian Veterans' Association at Mechanics' Hall, Boston, on the night of November 12, for the benefit of Canadian war veterans, and assisted in the trooping of the colors. Military and civic organizations of the United States, Canada, England, Australia, France, and Italy participated in the pageant. Most of the Marines remained for the dancing which followed and had a very enjoyable evening.

On the night of December 7, two squads of Marines from this station will give an exhibition drill in competition with units from the Army and Navy, in the ballroom of the Copley-Plaza Hotel at the Army and Navy Ball. A silver cup will be awarded by the Army and Navy Service Committee of Boston to the organization that makes the best showing, and it is planned to have this trophy competed for annually. Lieutenant Harbaugh, who is to command the two squads of Marines, is now busily engaged in instructing members of this command in special drills, and selecting the participants through a careful process of elimination. We feel confident that on the morning after the ball the trophy will gracefully adorn our Recreation Room.

NEWS ITEMS FROM NEW YORK

The initial dance of the winter season was recently held at the Navy Yard here. The dance was put on by the Marines from the barracks, and was held in the gymnasium, Building No. 10. It is estimated there were about 400 guests, including officers and enlisted men; among the officers and their wives to attend was the Commanding Officer of the barracks here, Colonel and Mrs. G. C. Reid, Captain and Mrs. R. Yowell, Captain W. C. MacCrone, Lieutenant and Mrs. H. S. Kiemling with four guests, Lieutenant A. Fricke, Lieutenant and Mrs. W. W. Paca, Lieutenant Dwyer of the M. C. Reserve of Brooklyn, Marine Gunner and Mrs. H. Boschen, Marine Gunner Slinghuff of the Receiving Ship, also Ex-Gunner Sergeant N. J. Gilligan, who lost his right arm in the Battle of Belleau Woods.

After the first two hours of dancing, refreshments were served by the Refreshment Committee under the direction of Sergeant J. C. Ferguson, our Post Exchange Steward. The dance lasted from 8 till 1 in the morning. Music was supplied by a private orchestra, hired for the occasion, which alternated with our own Jazz Band superb. It may be added that when it came to applause, "Our Own" walked away with all the honors. During the dance there was a balloon scramble, in which several hundred balloons were turned loose to the merry-makers. The Chairman of the Committee for the dance was none other than Sergeant Major Thos. J. McGarry, known to a good many old-timers throughout the Corps. The dance was a huge success, everybody having a wonderful time, and it is hoped that the dances to follow will be just as successful, if not more so.

Due to bad weather conditions, the small bore match held at Fort Hamilton by the Brooklyn Rifle Club, Sunday, the 18th, no high scores were made. There were several Marines from the barracks here entered, but due to the severe cold and heavy winds in which it was impossible to hold a rifle steady, nothing whatever was gained, except a little more experience with the .22 Cal. rifle.

Sergeant Major Rolph, retired, was a caller at the barracks here last Monday, no doubt many of his old friends will be glad to know that he is in the best of health and seemed pleased with everything in general.

Colonel Reid is arranging for the New York Detachment of the Marine Corps League to have an old-time "Bean" supper at the barracks during December. The old-timers still love the succulent bean occasionally, and declare that it is hard to satisfy the appetite in civil life. After the supper there will be a basketball game and dancing, in which the whole command will join.

We turned out the whole works last Saturday to root for the football team from Quantico playing against the Haskell Indians. It was a wonderful game between two cracker-jack teams. We nearly bit our hearts in two during that last dramatic minute, during which our team resolved itself into a veritable stone wall, and held the Redskins on our two-yard line. Here's hoping for another big game next year.

On Sunday the 11th the Metropolitan Rifle League staged a thousand-yard "shootin'" match, at the New York State Range at Peekskill. A bunch of our "shots" from the barracks here took a trip up there to see what they could do, and here is what happened: Sgt. F. B. Crawley won first place with 18 bulls and 2 fours, for a total of 98 out of a possible 100; Cpl. W. McK. Beckett took second place with 19 bulls and a three, for a total of 98; Sgt. W. F. Pulver took third place with a score of 96, and Sgt. E. Holzhauer took fourth place with a score of 94. Mr. Lee Manville, the high civilian, came next, with a score of 92. It begins to look like the Marines made a clean-up.

Sgt. Crawley received a very good-looking silver medal, and Cpl. Beckett a duplicate in bronze. Due to bad weather conditions, Cpl. T. Dunbar got a low score, and Sgt. J. C. Ferguson and Trumpeteer Tobias were unable to shoot. The Brooklyn Rifle Club will hold a long-range small-bore match at Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 18th of this month. It is hoped that we will be able to make a good showing with the twenty-two's also.

The New York Detachment of the Marine Corps League celebrated Armistice Day with a very happy dinner party at Keene's Chop House. Counting wives and sweethearts, there were nearly seventy present, including Col. and Mrs. G. C. Reid, Major and Mrs. S. W. Brewster, Lieut. Paul Howard, Lieut. H. S. Kiemling, Lieut. D'Appolo, Mr. Frank Harris of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Palmer, Mrs. Mae Bennett Garner, Marine Gunner R. F. Slingluff, Miss Ray Sawyer and guests, Mr. J. Hyland; also such "old timers" as Gunnery Sergeant Rahn and Albert Lagis, and a host of younger Marines. A fine jazz orchestra composed of Pvs. Picone, Schwartz, Nyri and Tpr. Tobias, played some fine dance music and Cpl. E. Davis a new arrival from Quantico, did a neat singing and dancing turn.

The many "old timers" who remember Sgt. Maj.

Thousands of Good Positions at Good Salaries

THE business tide has turned! And the building trades are leading the way back to prosperity! Building contracts made to July 1 of this year are the largest in number and in value ever awarded in any six months in this country's history. Government experts estimate that more than four billion dollars will be spent for construction in 1924.

Thousands of schools, churches, hospitals, banks, office buildings, warehouses, grain elevators, and public buildings are needed and must be built. Millions of dollars will be spent in the building of roads and bridges.

TRAINED MEN NEEDED

Today the most vital need of this great building program is men—trained men—men who can step right in and do the skilled work that building construction requires. Those needed most are draftsmen, architects, foremen, contractors, structural engineers, concrete engineers, surveyors, mechanical engineers, civil engineers, electricians.

Right now there is a shortage of men in these skilled trades and professions. E. J. Brunner, editor of the American Contractor, says: "The construction industry is reaching out with a fine-tooth comb for all available skilled mechanics of the building trades."

If this situation exists now, think what it will be six months, a year, two years hence, when other industrial activities are back to capacity and men cannot be drawn from other fields.

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

It means that if you are now employed on construction work, you can, through special training, qualify for advancement to more important and more responsible work at a greatly increased salary, or prepare to establish yourself in your own business.

It means that if you are now in other work, but would like to get into building construction, you can start immediately. The best plan is to take up the study of that branch of building which interests you most. Devote your spare time to it. In a surprisingly short while you will have learned to do some one definite kind of work that most men cannot do at all. And in almost every community you will find builders or contractors or architects who will be glad to pay you well for doing that special work for them.

There is a simple, easy, fascinating way by which you can prepare for a good position, at good salary, in the building trades or the work of your choice, whatever it may be. You can do it right at home, in spare time, no matter where you live, through the International Correspondence Schools.

A recent investigation of 13,298 students enrolled in I. C. S. Building Trades Courses showed that

1291	had become	Architects
246	had become	Designers
494	had become	Chief Draftsmen
2827	had become	Draftsmen
1845	had become	Contractors
211	had become	Assistant Foremen
4030	had become	Foremen
2834	had become	Superintendents

In every instance these students reported salaries or independent incomes far greater than when they took up their studies. Many have shown increases of 300 per cent. to 500 per cent. Some have incomes as high as $25,000 per year.

The Equitable Building, New York, largest office building in the world, was erected under the direction of I. C. S. Student H. S. Gardner, then Superintendent of Construction for the Thompson-Starrett Company.

The Classical High School, Lynn, Mass., was built by I. C. S. Student George H. Stowe.

The Kansas State Memorial Building, Topeka, was designed and erected by I. C. S. Student C. H. Chandler, then State Architect of Kansas.

The Pacific Building, San Francisco, largest reinforced concrete building in the world, was built under the direction of I. C. S. Student Erik Holman.

George A. Griebel, who was a stonemason by trade, decided to win success in construction work and took up an I. C. S. Course. Today he is a member of the Griebel Company, Cleveland, earning $12,000 a year. In one year his firm erected buildings worth $6,000,000.

These men won success under conditions less favorable than those that surround you today. Now there is a need for skilled men more urgent than the building trades have ever known.

You can have the position you want in the work you like best, an income that will give you and your family, the home, and comforts, you would like them to have. No matter what your age, your occupation, or your means, you can do it!

All we ask is the chance to prove it. That's fair, isn't it? Then mark the work you would like best in the coupon below and mail it today. There is no obligation and not a penny of cost. It takes but a moment, but it is the most important thing you can do today. Do it now!

Maid: "I just took me medicine and I forgot to shake the bottle."

Talking Too Much

A fellow can talk too much, and the worst of it is that he can do it without knowing it. I have a neighbor who did that very thing last night. He talked in his sleep. Several times he muttered the name "Maude." This morning, bright and early, his wife asked him who was this Maude person that he talked of in his sleep.

"That's easy," my neighbor said. "Maude is the name of a horse I bet on yesterday."

This evening when he returned home for dinner, he sailed into the house and said merrily to his wife:

"Well, old dear, has anything extraordinary happened today?"

"Nothing," the wife said, "except that your horse called you up twice."

James ("King") Duffy will be interested to know that "King" and his family left here Sunday the 11th for San Diego, Calif., where they will take up permanent residence.

We also had a visitor at the barracks here just lately—no other than the person of Sgt. Maj. Dan Daley, F. M. C. R., the celebrated Marine hero. "Dan" is hale and hearty and enjoying the best of health at the present time. To his many friends still in the service he offers them his best regards.

MARINES BATTLE GRIMLY AND HOLD THE HASKELL INDIANS

Fighting with magnificent determination, the eleven gridiron warriors representing the Quantico Marines held the Haskell Indians on their own 3-yard line, stopping the great John Levi twice and battling until the whistle ended the game and saved their hard-earned 14-14 tie, on November 17. It was a wonderful contest, waged at the Yankee Stadium in New York City, but was witnessed by only about 15,000 spectators.

The Marines gave the Indians a beautiful battle and should have been well satisfied to emerge with a tie score. It was brought about by Goettge's 70-yard dash to a touchdown and the inspired playing of Quarter-back Sanderson. After that the sea soldiers were twice forced into the shadows of their own goal posts, when it seemed that the red-skinned warriors would not be denied. Yet the Marines held—and held—and held.

The Indians scored in the second quarter, after John Levi had whipped a forward pass something like 50 yards and followed it an instant later by another shorter one, which his brother caught across the pale-face goal line. The half ended with Haskell leading 7-0.

In the second half John Levi started his unassisted 61-yard march down the field at the expense of the Marine's line. He started on his own 27-yard mark and swept down to the Marines' 12-yard line, where he suddenly whipped another short pass the full width of the field to his brother George on the 5-yard marker. George was tackled at once, but calmly dragged two Marines across the goal line. Carpenter kicked both extra points into the score.

With the Indians leading 14-0, the Marines staged their come-back in the third quarter. The Indians were holding them on the 25-yard line, when McMains threw a pass to Goettge, who raced down the side line 70 yards to a touchdown. He was pursued most of the way by John Levi, but the big Indian failed in his attempt at tackle on the 10-yard line. Ryckman kicked the goal.

Sanderson then went in at quarter for the Marines and seemed to rejuvenate the whole team. Goettge ran back a punt from his 15-yard line to the 40-yard line, and on the next play carried it to the Indians' 34-yard marker. George Levi was injured in this play and received uproarious applause as he left the field. Henry carried the ball to the 21-yard line, and on the next play went to the 14-yard marker. Goettge gained 6 yards and Sanderson went over for the touchdown. Ryckman again making the kick for the extra point.

The Indians surged back wildly in the last few minutes of play. Their bitter line play, combined with a penalty, drove the Marines back to their own 5-yard line, where they punted out of danger, only to see Carpenter run the ball right back into the shadows of their own goal posts.

The game trembled in the balance as the Indians made it first down on the 3-yard line and big John Levi hurled his massive frame at the Marines' line. It held, and the big Arapahoe took the ball and charged again. Once more they held, and John Levi took the ball a third time. As he was thrown back the whistle blew and the game was over.

Among the 500 Marine spectators rooting for their team was Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, commanding the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Va.

Do You Know

That one hundred and fifty families are to be brought into British Columbia and settled under private enterprise in the valleys east and south-east of Fort George?

That the Pike's Peak Turkey Growers' Association is an organization of women which embraces El Paso County, Colorado? Only a year old it already is doing a big business, shipping dry-picked turkeys in car lots. The association meets monthly and studies breeds, raising, marketing, and is purely co-operative.

That a mummy, perfectly preserved, believed to be that of an Inca chief, has been unearthed from a hill in the province of Salta, Argentina, near the Chilean border? A large number of artistic carvings and art objects of stone, copper, earthenware and onyx were buried with it. The nails, teeth and most of the hair are perfectly preserved, as are the vital organs, according to reports, which would indicate a method of embalming that may be superior even to the Egyptian.

That eighty per cent of the farmers of Oregon have telephones?

That grandfather clocks are being made by old established firms at Furtwangen and Lenskirch in the Black Forest of Germany?

Keep the lessons coming in; it's good for you.
Study as much as you can every day.
